

Eligibility

1. National Child Award

The Ministry of Women & Child Development instituted the Award in 1996 to give recognition to children with exceptional abilities and outstanding achievements.

It was then known as National Child Award for Exceptional Achievements. The Award is now known as "National Child Award". The award is given as a recognition to children with exceptional abilities and outstanding achievements in the field of innovation, scholastic achievement, sports, art & culture, social services and bravery.

Eligibility:

A. A Child who is an Indian Citizen and residing in India above the age of 5 years and not exceeding 18 years (as on 31st August of respective year).

B. Excellence in any one of the following fields (achievements that benefit society will be encouraged)

- Innovation
- Scholastic Achievement
- Sports
- Art & Culture
- Social Service
- Bravery

2. National Child Welfare Award- Individual

These awards are given to individuals who have made an outstanding contribution towards services for children in the fields of Child Development, Child Protection and Child Welfare for not less than 7 years and have made a positive impact on the lives of children.

Eligibility:

A. An individual who is an Indian Citizen and residing in India of the age group 18 or more (as on 31st August of respective year).

B. Minimum 7 years of experience in any one of the following fields (Achievements that benefit society will be encouraged)

- Child Welfare
- Child Development
- Child Protection

3. National Child Welfare Award- Institution

These awards are given to institutions that have done exceptional work for the cause of children in any field of Child Development, Child Protection and Child Welfare for not less than 10 years and have made a positive impact on the lives of children.

Eligibility:

- The institution should not be entirely funded by the government

- The institution should have been in the field of child welfare for 10 years and should have been performing consistently in the field. Contribution should have positively impacted the lives of the children

Note: “For furnishing any false information, the applicant/ person shall be liable for suitable legal action as per law”